

~ Requirements of a D/s Relationship ~

1. Honesty.

Without honesty, there can be no trust. Without trust D/s is nothing.

2. Trust.

Trust is sometimes given freely, or it is given after a long slog. D/s relationships rely on trust as the depths physically, emotionally and mentally can surpass vanilla relationships.

3. Love.

Without love, the control a Dominant can have over a submissive, is dangerous. These are real people, real emotions.

4. Communication.

How you communicate your desires is your choice - but communicate! Take time to learn about your partner, learn about their needs, their requirements.

5. Self-Respect.

Value yourself. Being a submissive does not mean you are a doormat. Being a dominant does not mean you treat people like a doormat.

6. Patience.

Learn to grow together. Take your time to explore each other, love each other, and respect each other.